LETTERS FROM FRANCE

Letters From a Few of Our Many Boys Over There Who Have Done Their Part and Tell of Thrilling Experiences.

Mrs. Frank Steiner, 420 South Washington street, has received the following letter from her son, Sergt. Benjamin Steiner.

November 28, 1918,
Nogent, France.

Dear Mother:

Today is Thanksgiving, and I have something to be thankful for pulling through this war O. K. I have thanked God for it all.

I know there are lots of mothers at home that have much to be thankful for. I guess there are lots of mothers who will never see their boys again. However, they did their best and died heroically.

If I had died in this great fight for freedom it would have been all right with me, but I am glad that I pulled through.

I will never forget the days I put in, in the trenches and how the shells and bullets used to fall around me and cut down trees right over me. We slept in water and mud every night.

War is not fun. Now, when I come home I can say that I did my part in the thickest of battle.

I guess the people at home are glad the war is over. We are too. We would have felt much better had we captured "Old Bill." His army certainly was afraid of the Americans. When we went after a town or hill held by the Germans we always got it. Our first big battle was in July which was the second battle of the Marne. We drove on Chateau Thierry and beleive me we did kill some of the Germans on that push.

Our next was St. Miheil drive and here we freed people that had been in the hands of the Germans four years. I felt like crying when the French women kissed our hands and cheeks. They certainly were glad to see us come in that night after fighting two days.

The next big fight was at Verdun, which ended our part in the war.

We were in all of the battles participated in by the Americans.

However, I am unable to remember the names of all of the places where we fought.

My Dear Uncle:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am still in the land of the living after passing through experiences that would seem impossible. I landed in France June 28, after a very pleasant sea voyage. After spending seven days in what was supposed to be a rest camp we started slowly to the front—hiking in the night and resting in the day. No one but a true American could have stood the making of 30 kilometres at a time, and you know a kilometre is about five-eights of a mile. Food was plentiful, sometimes, but we always managed to make out. We lived often under the Christian Science rules. We relieved the French at Guggenheim—this is not the brand you may think of—it is older—on the 20th of July. Near these trenches was a stream where the Dutch and French would have turns taking a bath, but that soon stopped when they found that the boys of the 116th had taken over the sector. They used to walk around on the parapet—that is the top of the trenches—before we arrived, but after our snipers got busy and upset a few they considered it a dangerous pastime. After fighting in this sector—Alsace-Lorraine—20 days we were sent back to billets for a rest. The billets I speak of are "corn barns" which were rented by the government. Very few nights there were when we were not under shell fire of the enemy. We left soon and on September 1 relieved another French division and then it was that we had real trouble with the Huns. I was made a Company Gas N., Co. O.—and you want to remember that we were being gassed every day. While this was a horrible job it was better than the one I had previously— a "wet nurse for seven men." September 15 we started for the big drive at Verdun, where the biggest battle of the war was fought. We took our position in No Man's Land. Stayed there all night. The next morning went over the top. There's where I got my revenge, but in the meantime they got me. I was wounded by a machine gun, but I struggled on in pain and later was hit by shrapnel, but still I continued on my legs feeling like they weighed a ton, but after the concussion of the Austrian 88's which caused a hemorrhage I was forced to quit. But I am all right now and helping others not so fortunate in the hospital. Prosperity to the dear old Gazette and a happy Christmas to all.

Corp. Theron R. Hayden, Co. L, 116th Infantry.

Julian F. Bettis has received the following letter from his son Sergt. J. H. Bettis, now in Vichy, France:

Nov. 24, 1918.

Dear Dad:

A line hoping it finds all well and happy, I am getting along fine here in Vichy, as it is some town believe me. This is a very pretty place over here in France, but up in the lines is not a very nice one, as it is some desolate looking, for all you can see is barbed wire, trenches and "Jerries," which is better known as the Boche. All have nick names, the French are called "Frogies," and they call us Yanks, which seem to head the list over here especially when we go over the top, and I have gone over more than once, but I am not anxious to go again any ways soon, for as a rule some of your best pals fail to come back, and I have lost lots of them.

But anyway dad it is the only way to win the war, and we did it with out hesitation. It seems strange how everyone acted when zero hour came. It was just the same as getting up in the morning.

I have captured a number of Boche and also an officer, I also have a medal taken from the officer, I have an Austrian ring I took from an Austrian when we went over the top at Verdun, and believe me I wont forget it either.

I had a grand pair of field glasses I took from a German Officer and left them at the field kitchen. I am in hopes of recovering them and bringing them to you as a souvenir from France.

VIRGINIA SOLDIER HAS SEVEN MEDALS

Probably the most decorated man in all America, as far as the recent war is concerned, is visiting relatives and friends in Blacksburg.

This young officer is Capt. George T. Fleet, of the 26th Infantry. Capt. Fleet wears the Cross of the Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre, the Distinguished Service Cross, and four other medals which were conferred by the French, British and American armies.

By Foch and Pershing.

The Cross of the Legion of Honor and Croix de Guerre were conferred personally by General Foch, and the Distinguished Service Cross by General Pershing. In the citation by General Pershing, he commended Fleet for crawling a mile and a half under murderous machine gun fire and shells of all calibre to get important information in regard to the enemy. Although severely wounded, Captain Fleet got the desired information and returned safely to the American lines.

Fleet wears four wound stripes and three trench chevrons. He went to France with Pershing's first contingent, was the third officer to land on French soil, and the first officer to fall under fire.

Captain Fleet, who is the son of George W. Fleet, of Blacksburg, left here five years ago and entered the army as a private. He told a friend, on leaving, that he would never return to Blacksburg until he was a high ranking commissioned officer. He made good his promise. Captain Fleet, who is recovering from a recent wound, will return to the hospital at Hampton, and then proceed to Douglas, Ariz., where his wife resides.

He was with Pershing on the punitive expedition into Mexico and was in the heavy fighting at Chateau Theirry and Soissons.

Captain Fleet has been recommended for a majority. When seen today he was wearing the Cross of the Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre and the distinguished service cross. Reaching in an inside pocket he pulled out four other medals, one of gold and as large as a good-sized biscuit. An admiring friend asked him why he didn't wear them. He replied simply: "Aw, I'd look too dressed up."

This brave young officer is a nephew of Mr. Charles W. Fleet, of North Royal street.

THE DRIVE IS EXTENDED

The Red Cross drive will be extended until January 1. Announcement to this effect was received in a telegram today by Col. Julian Y. Williams, local chairman, from Robert S. Shriver, chairman of Potomac division.

RICHMOND TOMORROW

Cecil B. De Mille's latest Artcraft production 'The Squaw Man," one of the most pretentious productions Mr. De Mille has thus far made for Artcraft, will be the attraction at the Richmond tomorrow.

This is a picturization of Edwin Milton Royle's famous stage success, the hero being a manly Englishman who, to shield the woman he loves from disgrace shoulders another's crime and becomes a pariah in Wyoming. It is a photoplay of the red blood variety and every moment of it is filled with interest and heart appeal.

CHRISTMAS

According to prognostications sent out by the Weather Bureau, we may have a "white Christmas," as snow is probably by tomorrow. However, let us be thankful we have roofs to our houses, as we can remain indoors and partake of the blessings of heaven without abusing the same.

During the past six weeks the world has looked forward to the Christmas season of 1918. The sudden close of the terrible war during the first two weeks of last month sent thrills of joy throughout our land and caused many to involuntarily utter the words of a well-known hymn.

Joy to the world! the Lord has come
Let earth receive her king!

Peace is once more hovering over our homes, in which there will be family reunions, and where some members who have been in camps and others far-away beyond the sea will mingle

While thousands are still upon what had up to a few weeks ago been the theatres of carnage, the fact that hostilities have ceased has relieved the anxiety so long experienced by loved ones at home.

Many beautiful thoughts cluster around Christmas. While so many see but little in it save the cheer of the occasion, the spiritual import should be of the greatest interest to all. It is the anniversary of an event which had been anticipated for four thousand years. "The seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head" was the first promise given the representatives of the human race in the Garden of Eden. This solemn pledge shone out as a brilliant star to our progenitors, and although the world passed through many dark clouds the promise was believed by the people to whom it was given, and "in the fulness of time God sent forth His son, born of a woman." We will celebrate the anniversary of his birth tomorrow.

The malignant power which brought "sin and death and all our woes" into the world found that One greater than he was in evidence and the announced Friend of mankind.

While partaking of the cheer which accompanies Christmas, we should not forget these important facts.

WILSON'S CHRISTMAS DINNER

President Wilson, it is announced, will eat his Christmas dinner with the boys in France, and that, too upon the battle field.

The more we consider the determination of Mr. Wilson to visit Europe at this particular time the more we see its wisdom. The appearance of the American President in the old world is not only enthusing to Americans, but his mission will radiate to those who have heretofore had but a faint conception of true democracy.

It will prove a lesson to Bolshevism and other radical hordes whose only conception of democracy is liberty to loot others and make a wilderness of mother earth.

PAY THE EASY WAY. PAY THE EASY WAY.

IT PAYS TO SHOP HERE

Whether You Desire Credit Or Wish to Pay Cash

Just at this time, when profiteering in food is making the expense of living a distress. W. T. Farley presents a plan which enables you to dress smartly by paying just what you can spare each week or on paydays. We wait for the money. The butcher, the baker and the grocer want you to pay cash when you receive the goods, or to settle in full at the end of the month. The cash department stores expect you to do likewise. But W. T. Farley says "Pay the same as you deposit your savings in a bank—just a little, but regularly." Some folks may say: "Oh, W. T. Farley's easy payment plan is wonderful enough, but W. T. Farley's prices must be higher than cash store prices, or else W. T. Farley could not afford to wait so long for payment."

In answer to this we urge investigation and comparisons of our prices. We go a little deeper than we ought to in cutting prices because we are anxious to demonstrate beyond all question that it is impossible for the cash store to undersell us. Watch our sales. Look at the smart styles we show. Behold the enormous selection. They tell a more convincing story than any word we could put in print.

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER.

While choirs tomorrow will be discoursing "Glory to God in the Highest, Peace Good Will Towards Men," the thrilling notes of "The Star-Spangled Banner" will be heard on the classic Rhine. A French band is sending forth at times the notes of our national air in the city of Coblentz.

"Times change and men change with them" was an observation in the days of the Caesars. Hide-bound Germany and its boasted autocracy is now listening to the immortal notes of the chef d'ouvre of songs of the new world. The Goddess of Liberty has taken her position on the banks of the Rhine, while the black eagle of Prussia is perched on a far-away rock attempting to hide from the coming storm.

AIR TRIP TO THE NORTH POLE

A few years ago when toy books represented Kris Kringle coming from the North Pole in his sleigh, high up in the heavens, we looked upon the achievement with as much faith as the transportation by the genii of Aladdin's palace from the capital of China to Africa. But we live in a day when nothing seems to be impossible, and men are contemplating visiting the North Pole in an airship, which some time ago would have been regarded as impossible as Kriss Kringle's serial journey.

A dispatch from New York tells us that an expedition to be led by Captain Robert A. Bartlett, noted explorer, will be sent to the Polar regions next June to survey the North Pole by airplanes, according to announcement by the Aero Club of America. The plan, it was said, was conceived by Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the Pole.

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS

Dear Santa Claus:
I have been a good little girl in school. Now, I want you to bring me the following: A ring, locket, bed for doll baby, games, red ribbon, new dress.

Santa Claus: Do you live at the North Pole? With love. Ada Hicks, 830 South Lee street.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little boy eight years old, and I want an automobile, and also ask that you send my brother home from France. Good bye, Harting W. Foley.

Good Will Given a New Impetus

A statement of Dodge Brothers war activities is due the owners of their cars.

Dodge Brothers refrained, during the progress of the war, from any reference to the performance of the car in Government service.

It seems proper now, however, to disclose the facts, because they are unusual facts—intensifying that good will which owners of Dodge Brothers Cars have always manifested.

Dodge Brothers car was the only one of its class approved and adopted by the War Department.

In a separate Ordnance Works, built especially for the purpose, costing millions of dollars and employing thousands of their skilled motor workmen, Dodge Brothers undertook an important duty designated by the War Department.

Without the aid of their great motor organization, Dodge Brothers could not have fulfilled the heavy obligation which they were asked to assume by the Ordnance Department.

The other service required of Dodge Brothers motor works, by the Government, was to continue to furnish their cars as they were needed.

They were furnished, not in hundreds, but in thousands—both for the training camps here, and for service in Belgium, France and Italy.

The record of those thousands of camp and army cars is one in which any owner may feel the utmost pride and satisfaction.

Their performance justified the compliment implied in their selection by the Government.

The great works in which nearly three hundred thousand of their cars have been produced in the past four years furnished a vast store-house of human energy and equipment for the ordnance work.

Naturally, it will take time to adjust the motor works to its full accustomed activity.

Gradually Dodge Brothers will resume the grateful task of continuing to deserve the good will of America—and indeed of the whole world.

Dodge Brothers consider good will their most valuable possession.

They will never knowingly do anything to lessen it.

Daniel's Son Follows Resignation by Evening up Score for Indignities

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 24.—When Worth Bagley Daniels, son of Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy resigned from the Naval Academy at Annapolis last week to resume the study of medicine, which he gave up when America entered the war to serve his country, before leaving the Academy town he settled a little score, according to the story told here by a prominent citizen of Annapolis.

As a plebe in the Academy, Daniels like many others, was subjected to hazing imposed by first class men, and there was one in particular who took a delight in making things unpleasant for the son of the Secretary of the Navy. The latter, according to the ethics of the institution, was not in a position to resent the treatment.

Immediately after he had severed connections with the Academy, and was again in civilian attire Daniels hunted up his persecutor and when he met him said in effect:

"You have seen fit to humiliate me in every possible way since I have been in the Academy, now we are on even terms and we will fight it out right here."

Thus challenged, there was nothing left the first class man but to accept. And a battle followed. It ended in the first class man being so thoroughly pummelled that he had to retire to his quarters.
